FIRST PICTURES OF SEATTLE'S BROKEN PIPE LINE

These pictures, taken for the Times by Geo. H. Worley of Ravensdale show what's the matter with the big Cedar river water pipes which supply water to Seattle. Here are shown the stub ends of the two big pipes, one on each bank of the roaring river. The split and shattered staves of the pipes on one side are shown plainly. On the other side of the river, as shown in the smaller picture, the waters cut the pipes off sharply. The pipes crossed the river here on a bridge built by the city, suspended between 30 and 40 feet above the river bed. The entire bridge and over 200 feet of the pipes were taken out by the raging waters. Judging from these pictures, it will require fully 10 days to repair and rebuild the pipes.

Darrow Accuses Court of Bias

(By United Press Leased Wire.) HALL OF RECORDS, LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 22.—The direct charge that Judge Bordwell was discriminating against the defense was made in open court today by Clarence Darrow, chief counsel for the McNamara. The tension in the case was distinctly marked today and there were frequent clashes. Darrow's charge followed three rulings by the court which were directly against the defense. Darrow was interrogating F. A. Brode, a prominent business man, and had asked him one of the thousand leading questions with which the record is filled. Deputy District Attorney Horton objected and was sustained. Darrow, his face flushed with anger, took exception. "Why, when the other side wants to disqualify a juror the court permits them to ask leading questions for an entire half day," he began. "That remark is decidedly improper. Mr. Darrow," sharply broke in Judge Bordwell. "But it is a fact that the record discloses, nevertheless," continued Darrow. "I want a specific ruling on this point."

Makes Strange Ruling. Judge Bordwell ruled that certain questions might be proper in the case of one juror that would not be proper in the case of another. This ruling plainly amazed Darrow, who promptly declared that never in all his court experience had he found a similar position taken. From that time on the defense assumed a new and distinctly aggressive attitude with the result that there were plenty of fireworks.

Juror Stays In. After examining Brode for nearly three hours, the defense challenged him for cause because of his opinion that the Times was dynamited. The state resisted the challenge and Judge Bordwell disallowed it, seating Brode and making the fifth man present for cause against whom the defense must exercise a peremptory challenge because of their opinions that the Times was dynamited and not accidentally destroyed by a gas explosion.

Blethen Sells

(By United Press Leased Wire.) BELLINGHAM, Nov. 22.—The American and Revelle, owned by Col. A. J. Blethen of Seattle, was sold today to a syndicate of local business men. Frank Seifert, formerly a Salt Lake City newspaperman, is the new publisher.

GIRLS MAKE SERIOUS CHARGE AGAINST EX-MINISTER

(By United Press Leased Wire.) PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 22.—Two young girls of 15 and 16 years made serious charges today against John H. Goddard, ex-minister of the gospel and now a real estate man. Goddard is under arrest. He formerly lived in Seattle, and has preached here. At the last state election Goddard was a candidate for the Oregon legislature, but was defeated.

boys to make money. Every sickly, undernourished, or call "runts," as they called them, was turned over to him and if they thrived under his treatment he got the profit of the sales. "That was a pretty hard way to earn a dollar," said the chief, "because I wasn't a very good doctor."

He decided not to try the medical profession, so when he struck out from the home nest he went into secret service work. Later he joined the forest service as a ranger. Tomorrow General Manager Bean of the T. & P. will tell of his first dollar.

DANGEROUS SITUATION IN SEATTLE

(By United Press Leased Wire.) SEATTLE, Nov. 22.—Half of Seattle continues to be without water, schools remain closed and water wagons are running night and day to supply apartment houses, hotels and hospitals. Temporary relief is promised tomorrow through an auxiliary plant at Lake Washington. The main system will not be working until next week. Many residents have left the city temporarily. Stringent orders have been issued against all use of water for other than domestic purposes. Many factories and manufacturing plants are shut down. Extra precautions are taken to prevent fires, and half the city is absolutely without fire protection. Sanitary conditions are becoming serious. Tests of the temporary water supply show it to be dangerous.

Snagquaine Suffered. SEATTLE, Nov. 22.—At least $30,000 damage has resulted on the Snoqualmie river by Sunday's floods. Telephone communication has not yet been restored. Ranchers suffer most. Many are homeless.

Train Service Down. BELLINGHAM, Nov. 22.—Northwest Washington is still without train service and there is little prospect of resumption before tonight owing to the floods.

GEORGE IN TROUBLE. Attorney G. E. George, a former Tacoma man, widely known for his matrimonial troubles here, according to a telegram received this morning from Redding, Cal., by the police, has been indicted for grand larceny there.

Expect Acquittal For Mrs. Patterson

(United Press Leased Wire.) DENVER, Col., Nov. 22.—"I saw her standing over Patterson's prostrate body with a revolver pointed at his neck. She was about to fire again. I cried out to stop her. But she shot him in the back, hid the revolver under his body and ran."

This is the testimony given by George Strain, an eye witness to the shooting of Patterson by his wife. The state demanded a verdict of guilty of first degree murder.

DENVER, Col., Nov. 22.—Gertrude Gibson Patterson, charged with the murder of her husband, was sworn today and the opening statement was delivered by the state. Judge O. H. Hilton, for the defense, will claim self-defense. Patterson was killed after being threatened by his wife, the state balances $531,555.07 against her.

PEDERSON MAY LOSE CONTRACT AT NISQUALLY

If Contractor Hans Pederson does not get down to business on the Nisqually power plant project the job will be taken from him and Engineer Groves will be told to finish the work by day labor. Pederson was brought on the carpet a month ago for his delays. He agreed to do better. Yesterday Commissioner Weeks reported that Pederson had been in North Yakima for a week, that the whole work was demoralized with no superintendent or foreman in charge. Pederson will be summoned to explain Friday or Saturday.

Barbary Coast Has Seattle Victim

(United Press Leased Wire.) SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 22.—J. A. Kelly of Seattle lies at the Harbor hospital here today suffering from a possible fracture of the skull and severe lacerations of the scalp, inflicted by thugs. He was held up on the Barbary Coast last night and badly beaten. The robbers secured $65.

Aid Rushed to Stricken Ship

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The Hamburg-American liner Prinz Joachim, on board of which are William J. Bryan of Nebraska, his wife and his six-year-old grandson, went ashore on the rocks at Samana Island, near San Domingo, at 3 o'clock this morning. Wireless reports state that the vessel is sinking. Early reports stated that the ship was in no danger. Now it is declared to be going down so rapidly that the passengers and crew may have to take to the lifeboats unless relief comes soon. Bryan is en route to Kingston, Jamaica, to visit his daughter, Mrs. Reginald Owen. His plan was to spend the winter in Panama. Marine men declare the Prinz Joachim must have been 25 miles off her course. Samana Island is one of the small, outlying islands of the Bahama group. It is an uninhabitable rock one mile wide and eight miles long.

Says Ship Is Safe. Officials of the Hamburg American Steamship line today issued the following statement: "Brief wireless information to us is that the liner Prinz Joachim went ashore this morning, but that the passengers are in no danger. The vessel is resting easily and aid has already been sent. We expect another message within a few hours telling us that the steamer is afloat. The passengers will not be taken off." Word was received here that the tug Peoria and the revenue cutter Algonquin, both government vessels, have been sent to the rescue.

May Take Green River Job Away From Weeks

There is to be a show-down on the administration of Commissioner Weeks and the Green river work tomorrow. The whole commission will go up and go over the situation. All series of stories have been coming down from the line. One charge made is that hundreds of holes were bored in the pipe this week to keep it from floating away. It is insisted that the work is costing twice the estimate in some cases and that changes have been made to benefit the contractors. It looks now that the whole Green river work will be taken over from Weeks and put under the complete direction of Engineer Manley.

Aberdeen Is Scene of Big I. W. W. Fight

The action came following this telegram: Aberdeen, Nov. 21. Organized and systematic work for street speaking. Send all men possible immediately. W. I. Fisher, Co. Sec. J. M. Train and O. H. Cox Quits

(By United Press Leased Wire.) CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 22.—Following his retirement as a banker yesterday George B. Cox, famous "boss" of the city, issued the following statement: "I am out of politics for good and I hope the people will take me at my word. If political targets are necessary, I hope they will find another man. I want to retire from active business within two years, when I am 60."

Many say that Cox's retirement resulted from a recent political event. It is said that Cox's fight at the time of his indictment for perjury cost him $100,000. He was married in 1901.

BURMEISTER ACCUSED AGAIN. Frank Haranga is on trial in Chapman's court charged with highway robbery on Paul H. Balle, October 21.

A. P. Williams, defendant's attorney, says Deputy Prosecutor Burmeister has been at sharp tricks again, and practiced the third degree on Haranga, trying to wring a confession. Haranga was arrested two hours after the holding and did not have a cent. Bail was rebuffed at $5.

"I want to protect from donna females."

SEATTLE WATER TRADE CLIMBING

Oriental and Intercoastal Trades Are Gaining Fast; Big Steamship Line Leasing Whole Pier

A great, new era of ocean commerce is opening.

Seattle's Oriental passenger business has greatly increased in recent months. The transpacific cargo trade is booming. Japan is now starting to buy wheat (our grain exports formerly went to Europe).

Water shipments to and from the Atlantic ports, thru the Panama canal, are growing by leaps and bounds.

Today, as an example, the American-Hawaiian line, which handles the largest single volume of this intercoastal trade, is on the point of closing at San Francisco a contract with the Port of Seattle for the use of the entire Stacy-Lander terminal!

This at a figure which will put the whole big pier on a paying basis and insure its capacity use for a three-year period. The company wants a 10-year contract, but the port commission is wisely insisting on the briefer term.

Shipments to and from South America and Europe are gaining every month.

Greatness Just Ahead

There is every reason to believe that Seattle now can, if it grasps its opportunity, become in a few years the center of a great world trade which its far-seeing founders always predicted.

Puget Sound, focusing point of five continental railroads, and two and a half steaming days nearer the Orient than San Francisco, is certain to become one of the dominating ports of the Seven Seas—IF WE LET IT.

It is a time for optimism. For faith. For constructive thinking. For progress. FOR SEVEN-LEAGUE IDEAS.

It distinctly is not the time to harken to the obstructionist in our midst. To the individual who would let his selfish interests stand in the way of big community advancement. It is no time to be led by the whiner and the calamity-howler.

A Constructive "Yes"

That is why the Port of Seattle's plan for taking over the Skinner & Eddy site from the U. S. shipping board should be approved by the voters at next Tuesday's election.

That is why every registered citizen of King county should be at the polls to cast a constructive, forward-looking YES vote.

That is why this key-acreage of the entire harbor should pass permanently into Port of Seattle hands, to be leased at once for industrial development and made ready to help handle the lucrative intercoastal business that is offering.

HERE'S ANOTHER ONE

Today in the Want Ad column you will find a good, comfy home over in West Seattle. Perhaps it is just the one you have been waiting for.

Flower Show Is Scented Fairyland

The Seattle Garden club's flower show opened Thursday with flowers from all over the Northwest on display. Here is Miss Elizabeth Folsom, a Seattle sub-deb, looking over a display hedge with a mass of the blooms in her arms. Miss Folsom is one of the girls selling boutonnieres at the French flower booth.

SUGAR BOYCOTT IS SUCCEEDING

Housewives Refuse to Buy; Gamblers Alarmed

BY FLORA G. ORR
WASHINGTON, May 3.—The housewives' sugar boycott is working. Sugar sales at retail groceries are already 20 per cent less than they were a year ago, according to a quiet survey reaching several thousand grocers the nation over conducted from Washington.

That means, according to commodity experts, that an enormous surplus of sugar will be built up in the country, if the housewives continue the use of sugar substitutes for another month or so.

Reports from New York to government officials indicate that the sugar gamblers are thoroughly alarmed over the prospect of being caught with huge sugar stock on a falling market.

Department of commerce officials describe the housewives' sugar boycott as one of the most amazing economic developments since the war. They declare that the lesson learned during the war, when food conservation was first practiced, is that a nation can conserve its resources by using substitutes.

That is why the Port of Seattle's plan for taking over the Skinner & Eddy site from the U. S. shipping board should be approved by the voters at next Tuesday's election.

That is why every registered citizen of King county should be at the polls to cast a constructive, forward-looking YES vote.

That is why this key-acreage of the entire harbor should pass permanently into Port of Seattle hands, to be leased at once for industrial development and made ready to help handle the lucrative intercoastal business that is offering.

SEATTLE BAN IS INCREASING

Joining with other clubs and fraternal orders in a concerted drive to reduce the price of sugar by starting a city-wide boycott, the Women's Civic league was to hold a special meeting at the Y. W. C. A. Thursday to outline a plan of action.

At a meeting of the Coterie at the University way clubhouse, the sugar boycott movement will be presented by Mrs. H. M. Bonney, president.

Thruout Seattle fraternal orders, civic clubs and other organizations are taking steps to make the sugar ban complete. A resolution was adopted by the League of Women Voters Wednesday endorsing the nation-wide protest against advanced prices. All members of the league have agreed to cut down their consumption of sugar.

Mrs. Henry Lander, city councilwoman, is leading the move among women's organizations in outlining a plan of action.

"I am surprised that Secretary of Commerce Hoover should approve the proposed sugar boycott," President Post of the National Sugar Refining Co. said.

Masses of Blooms Greet Visitors at Exhibit

GARDEN under cover.

That is the first annual spring flower show of the Seattle Garden club, which opened Thursday on the northwest corner of Fifth and University st. Outside, a French flower booth, arranged with foliage and many-hued bouquets and boutonnieres, and a flowered lattice, hint of the display within.

More than 200 flower and foliage lovers have contributed to the inside picture, designed by Theodore Parsons, of the Associated Artists, with the help of the committee, to represent an artistic garden of both new and old-fashioned flowers, plants and shrubs.

GREEN HEDGE ROOM
A green hedge extends about the sides of the room. Within are moss embankments, tall and small flowers growing in smooth, grassy plots, a pergola and a fountain. Baskets, resting on stands and hung from garlands, are to be found strung in many of the most embankments. All of these are of regulation size—two by three feet.

One exhibit that on this opening day is attracting considerable attention is the model forest, designed by Arvilla Norman. The forest, according to Norman, contains 45 varieties of Northwest forest and meadow plants.

EXHIBITS COME FROM OUTSIDE THE CITY

Others whose displays were attracting attention were those of Mrs. George L. Andrews and Mrs. Percy Wheaton. Not only were the flowers and plants of interest because of their beauty, but because of the distance they had traveled.

Mrs. Andrews arrived in Seattle Thursday morning from La Conner, Wash., with more than 500 blooms, including narcissi, yellow daisies, tulips and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Wheaton arrived from Klondike and with enough tulips of practically all tulip shades to fill the front window of any grocery corner florist shop.

The show is to continue for three days, opening always at 12 a. m. and closing at 10 p. m. Some five or six of the flower club's 43 members.

Boycott Surprises Dealers in Sugar

NEW YORK, May 3.—Action of prominent men encouraging a sugar boycott "comes near being a conspiracy in restraint of trade," sugar dealers declared here today.

"I am surprised that Secretary of Commerce Hoover should approve the proposed sugar boycott," President Post of the National Sugar Refining Co. said.

LAUBE DEALT TELLING BLOW

Witness Admits Mortgage Is Held by Bank Attorney

By John W. Nelson

A smashing blow at the efforts to impeach the testimony of Frank Waterhouse in the $185,000 El Aquario suit brought by William T. Laube, trustee in bankruptcy, was delivered by defense attorneys Thursday, when Neal H. Begley, chief counsel for the Seattle National bank, holds a $5,000 mortgage on Begley's home.

Begley was recalled Thursday to testify as to a payment of $10,000 made by the Frank Waterhouse Co. to the National Steel Construction Co., the firm which completed the construction of the El Aquario when the McGee Shipbuilding Co. failed.

Evidence was introduced to show that the steel concern made demand upon the Waterhouse Co. for $10,000 and that this sum was paid over by the Waterhouse company to prevent the steel company stopping its work. Begley failed to remember any of the alleged conversation made at the time the money was paid over by the Waterhouse Co.

BEGLEY AT FIRST DENIES CHARGE

At the conclusion of his cross examination, Attorney Clarence L. Remond for Waterhouse, asked Begley if any attorney for Laube owned a mortgage on his home.

"No," Begley answered, in a suppressed voice.

"What?" exclaimed Remond. "Do you mean to say that none of the opposing attorneys own a mortgage on your home?"

"Do you know Judge Fred Bauman?"

"I have never met him," said Begley.

"Doesn't Judge Bauman, who is the head of the bond firm represented here, own a $5,000 mortgage on your home?"

"Yes," Begley admitted.

"The mortgage was bought by Bauman shortly after you left the (Turn to Page 9, Column 2)

$300,000 IS SALE PRICE IN DEAL!

Fisheries Company Head Buys Big Structure as an Investment; Deal May Mean Early Addition of Units to 11-Story Securities Building

Representing what was said to be the largest transaction of the year in Seattle realty, Henry Broderick, Inc., Thursday announced the sale of the Crary building, at the northwest corner of Fifth and Union st., to P. E. Harris, president of the Haines Packing Co., P. E. Harris & Co., and other large fish packing concerns.

The property was bought from the Washington Securities Co. and the purchase price was $300,000.

It is understood that as a result of the disposition of the Crary building, the Washington Securities Co. will shortly begin the construction of another unit of the 11-story Securities building, on the Fourth and Stewart st. side. The Washington Securities Co. owns the entire block, bounded by Third, Fourth, Stewart and Virginia, in which the Securities building is located. The addition, it was said, will be one of several similar units to be built by the company in that block.

C. F. Chase, secretary of the Securities company, said Thursday his concern had developed no definite plan for additional units for the Securities building, but he admitted such an undertaking is in prospect.

The Crary building is six stories in height and has a frontage of 72 1/2 feet on Fifth ave. by 120 feet on Union st. It has 35 offices upstairs and seven stories on the ground floor. The property is legally described as the south 17 1/2 feet of lot 10 and all of lot 11 in block 20 of A. A. Denny's addition. In the negotiations the Washington Securities company was represented by Mr. Chase, and John R. Holmes handled the deal for Henry Broderick, Inc. The building was erected in 1908 by the Securities company.

The transfer of title of the Crary building is a sharp manifestation of the renewed interest in Seattle real estate. Harris, the purchaser, who is one of the most prominent men in the Northwest, has not hitherto been interested in real estate, but feels that Seattle property, rightly selected, now represents attractive investment, due to the fact that liquidation has brought values down to unwarranted low levels.

The new Community hotel, situated one block south of the Crary building, is undoubtedly exerting considerable influence in this vicinity among realty purchasers.

The deal was a new record for the longest airplane flight.

The two aviators had been in the air approximately 24 hours and 40 minutes between Mitchell field, New York, and North Island, San Diego.

The airline distance between New York and San Diego is approximately 2,400 miles. The best previous flight by an airplane was from San Diego to Indianapolis, by Kelly and Macready, a distance of 2,060 miles.

The flight they completed this afternoon probably will exceed in distance 2,750 miles when the official mileage is computed from the instruments which were carried.

At the time the plane came into sight over the outskirts of San Diego a din of sirens cut loose with bedlam and scores of factories in San Diego, shipping in the harbor and government craft at the naval station.

Planes—able to San Diego airplanes are an accustomed sight—poured into the streets, shouting and waving handkerchiefs as the plane roared above.

At the field another throng was awaiting the landing. Business men were on hand with committees of greeters to welcome the two aviators who were making history.

FRIEDA'S FOLLIES

She went in for Sunday-night snore.

The Bohemian kind.

Who wants to entertain hungry celebrities?

Besides they never call on me.

Still they had made her affairs quite an event.

Her recipe was really a wonder.

The only good one in town.

It was on the stove.

I offered to watch it.

She was receiving her guests.

I'm such a poor hand at cooking.
