I. W. W. Outlawed

The good citizenship of Chehalis county will commend the decision of Judge Mason Irwin, of the superior court, printed on another page, relative to the status of the Industrial Workers of the World in a legal way. The decision, which is far-reaching in its scope, brings a sigh of relief to the Grays Harbor country, and the entire state, being, as it is, the first judicial decision on this anarchistic movement.

Primarily, of course, it is a relief to Aberdeen, where many of its worthy citizens feared that the law had been overstepped in closing this incubator of anarchy, and that possible expensive damage suits would result. It points clearly the way by which citizens may throttle revoltionary agitators without fear of violating the law.

The decision practically substantiates the position taken by the authorities of Aberdeen in quelling an incipient rebellion against all law. To be sure, when the would-be rebels found themselves immersed in the web of the law, they shrieked as loudly for that law as they had previously denounced it. Chehalis county is proud of the judge who has had the first opportunity in the state to pronounce the sentence of outlawry upon all organizations which profess enmity to the government under which they, either by birth or choice, enjoy the greatest rights and privileges granted to any people under the blue sky.

The victory is not one of Aberdeen, or the matter of the Finn hall in this city the only concern. It establishes the fact that cities have the right to resort to extraordinary measures in order to preserve the public peace. It serves notice that, while this country needs, desires and solicits settlers, without questioning their nationality, religious preferences or political beliefs, it has absolutely no time or place for anarchistic revolutionists.

Two items are chief among the requirements on Grays Harbor. Are labor to develop our wonderful resources, and the capital with which to pay that labor during the interim between the expenditure and the returns. All are welcome. But, really, we insist upon running our affairs in the old way—by the rule of the majority legally expressed—and will not tolerate the rule of Boss St. John, of Chicago, and his hired men, or any other set of grafting, self-constituted guardians of the peace, prosperity and happiness of the world.

Under this decision, it is unlawful for any I. W. W. agitator to hold meetings within the jurisdiction of the court, and if the citizens of Hoquiam do not see to its enforcement, it will be up to the county authorities to see that this hatchery of anarchy in Chehalis county is abolished. With the mayor of that city in avowed sympathy with the revolutionists, and the principal of its schools a publicist of anarchistic doctrines, the real American citizens of our sister city are deserving of sympathy, but they now have a remedy. The county attorney is a resident of that city, and this decision of Judge Irwin is the law this officer has made oath to uphold. The sheriff's office is at his command, and if there is another meeting of this band of legally declared outlaws held in that city, the blame will attach primarily to County Attorney W. E. Campbell.

Against the Government

An emissary of the I. W. W. organization is now engaged in "working" the logging camps of this section after recruits and fees, mainly the latter, with the evident intention of making trouble in the future if possible. After all the experiences on the Harbor and other sections of the state, the true laboring element and all good citizens should fight shy of these trouble breeders, who are only interested in the laboring man for the dimes and dollars they can squeeze from him to keep the walking delegates in clover without the necessity of working themselves. There are already too many industrial disturbing factors which are seriously affecting business conditions and the public welfare without encouraging new ones to come between the real workingman and his job. The I. W. W. frankly admit that it is "again the government," and simply calls strikes to harass industries and paralyze business and trade as far as possible with the ultimate aim of destroying all business. It ought not to require a great order of intelligence for the wage earner to see that the tactics of this organization, which has its greatest strength among unskilled and foreign laborers, would soon result in no job at any wage. So far no trouble has occurred in the logging industry, and it seems to be the disposition of the lumbermen to permit those who sympathize with the I. W. W. to go out as soon as possible and relieve the camps of all disturbing elements.—Shelton Journal.

So Rude of Him.

Mrs. Jigsaw (of a literary turn)—William, what is the feminine synonym for "fraternal?"
Bachelor Brother—I don't know of one. Glycerin, that exactly fills the bill.
"Glycerin," though not really appropriate, is perhaps the only available word you can use truthfully.—St. Louis Times.

Disappointed.

"I dreamed last night that I went to your funeral."
"And that is why you are looking so glum? Good boy."
"Yes—because it was a dream."—Houston Post.

A Mean Suggestion.

"You know," said Miss Kreech after her solo, "I intend to go abroad to finish my musical education."
"Why not finish it right now?" suggested Miss Cadley, "and save the expense?"—Philadelphia Ledger.

To Freshen Fish.

Those who dislike salted, whitefish and mackerel should put the fish in a crock or stone jar, pour over clabbered milk or buttermilk, let stand twelve hours, rinse twice in clear water, and they will find the fish as fresh as though it had never been salted.

Public Libraries.

In most public libraries all books are disinfected when they are returned. They go into all sorts of places and are read by sick people in their homes and in hospitals, hence the precaution.

England's Jewelry Center.

In England Birmingham is the chief center for manufacture of jewelry of all kinds.

Not Just What He Meant.

Chairman (addressing a meeting)—I am sure we will all be very sorry our secretary is not here tonight. I cannot say we miss his vacant chair, but I do say we miss his vacant face.—London Tit-Bits.

Time Saving Scheme.

"I have six daughters."
"Must take 'em a long time to dress when the family is going anywhere?"
"Oh, no. They form in a circle, and each buttons another's gown."—Washington Herald.

A Catastrophe.

"I don't remember what I ate, but I had an awful dream."
"What was it, old chap?"
"I dreamed my valet went away without facing my shoes."—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Explained.

"Political candidates to Rome wore white robes to show their purity."
"Now I know why Rome howled."—Baltimore American.

ASK GOVERNORS TO CONVENTION

Are Invited to Meeting of Washington Development
Associations

AT OLYMPIA NEXT MONTH

Preparations Under Way to Make Olympia Gathering
Memorable One

OLYMPIA, Dec. 23.—Formal invitations will be extended by Gov. Hay to Governors Oswald West of Oregon, J. H. Hawley of Idaho and Edwin L. Norris of Montana, to come to Olympia on January 25, 26 and 27 to attend the joint session of the Olympic Peninsula Development League and the Southwestern Washington Development Association. They are to be invited to be special guests at the executive mansion during the three-day convention.

In addition to this the program committee, under the direction of F. J. Watson of the Olympia chamber of commerce, will extend invitations, according to Gov. Hay, to the heads of the various railroads of the state to attend the convention. Those included in this list of guests are L. W. Hill, president of the Great Northern; Howard Elliott, president of the Northern Pacific, and Robert Straborn, who built the North Coast. Plans for the big convention are rapidly maturing and indications are that it will be the largest commercial congress this state has ever seen. Gov. Hay is scheduled to speak on Friday, January 25, on the subject "The Plans of the Capitol Commission, and the Part They Play in the Beautification of Olympia."

Friday Railroad Day

Friday afternoon will be set apart for a discussion of railroads. It is hoped that by general discussion a better insight can be had into the cooperation between the railroads and commercial bodies of the Southwest and Olympic peninsula and harmony can be promoted. The railroad officials and commercial bodies represented will also meet with the public service commission on this day. Saturday will be the banner day of the convention, according to present plans. This will be "Good Roads" day and the delegates to the congress of Good Roads Women in Tacoma will come to Olympia on this day to participate in the program.

The convention will be held in the house chamber, and in order to accommodate the delegates expected to attend, the seats will be removed and chairs installed. It is expected that approximately 1,000 delegates will attend. On Saturday evening an oyster supper will be tendered by the Olympia chamber of commerce after which the delegates will be received at the governor's mansion the guests of honor of Gov. and Mrs. Hay.

VANDALS AT WORK

HOQUIAM, Dec. 23.—An act of rank vandalism, was the cutting and mutilating of a large holly bush in the yard of C. O. Brown in East Hoquiam last night. Some one literally stripped the large tree of its leaves, leaving a ruined trunk.

GALE SWEEPS HARBOR

A terrific southwest gale with a velocity of 50 miles an hour, swept Grays Harbor Friday, it being the second gale of the nature this season. No damage was reported, except a few torn awnings.

LUMBER OUTPUT TO BE CURTAILED

Production of Washington and Oregon Mills Reduced by 534,250,000 Feet

REPORT TO ASSOCIATION

Average Reduction Estimated at 64 Days' Cut—Statement of Stock Asked For

That the carrying out of the curtailment idea among the Oregon and Washington sawmills during the next three months will average sixty-four days, representing a total loss in production of 534,250,000 feet of lumber, was shown by a report presented to the West Coast Lumber Manufacturers' Association at its meeting in Tacoma Friday.

The report was presented by C. E. Patten of Seattle, who said he had received replies from 170 mills in Washington and Oregon as to their views on the curtailment idea. In connection with the discussion on curtailment it was stated that Eastern orders for between 40,000,000 and 50,000,000 feet of saw stock have been placed this fall with Oregon and Washington mills, or more than the mills can produce because of the special quality of lumber demanded.

To Check Overproduction

Manager W. C. Miles in his report asked that every mill send to him each thirty days a statement of stock on hand and of the board measure sold during the thirty days in order that the matter of overproduction can be dealt with.

The invitation of the new port commission of Seattle relative to a wharf and warehouses for interior mills desiring to ship by water to the Eastern states when the Puget canal is open was discussed and President Griggs appointed J. H. Bloodell, C. E. Patten and C. C. Bronson to confer with the Seattle commission. The Seattle plan is to reserve a space about 400x5,000 feet for lumber alone.

Nominations for Directors

The nominating committee presented the following for directors to be voted upon at the annual meeting: R. H. Alexander, J. H. Bloodell, W. J. Bonner, E. G. Ames, F. B. Hubbard, W. P. Mack and Everett G. Griggs of Washington, and George B. McLeod, L. J. Wentworth, E. L. Groedter and A. C. Dickson.

BUTNER GAINING FAME

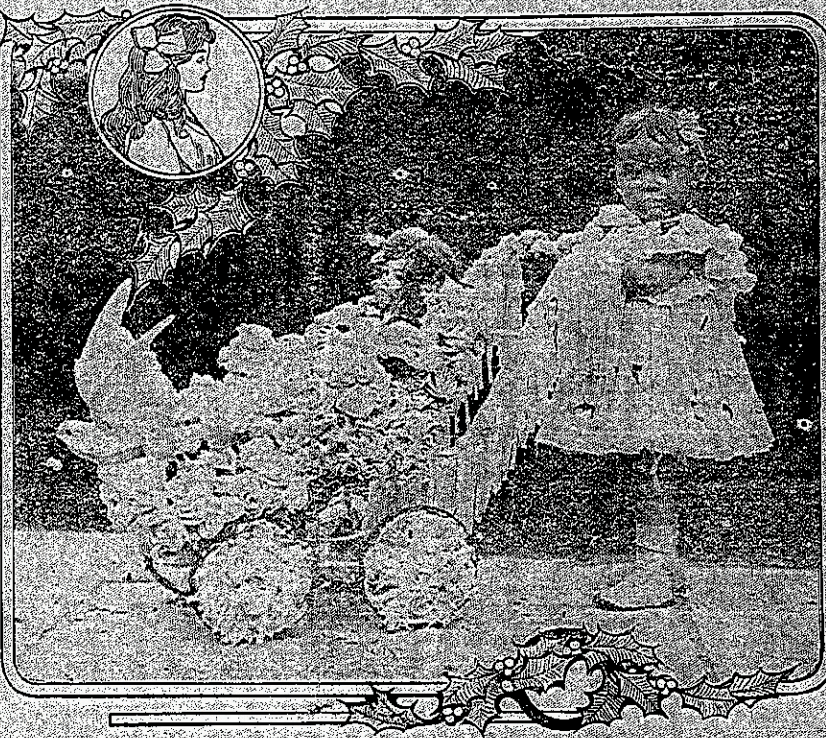

Wilson Butner, former attorney of Chehalis county and now engaged in the practice of law in California, has written friends that he is doing a good stroke of business. He was recently retained to defend John Rogers, who is held for the murder of Benjamin Goodman. He has organized a number of companies, which he says are making money.

HORSE IS KILLED IN COLLISION WITH CAR

Robert Philbrick Becomes Confused and Pulls Team Right in Path of Moving Car

A collision between car No. 7 of the Grays Harbor Railway & Light company, and a team owned by the Aberdeen Soda Works, driven by Robert Philbrick, resulted in the death of one horse and injury to the other, Saturday afternoon. The collision occurred near the First street crossing. Philbrick allowed the lines to hang loose and when he saw the danger, got them confused and is said to have pulled his team in the path of the car.

RYAN IS FOUND DEAD IN SHACK

Former Sparring Partner of John L. Sullivan Dies
Unattended

DEATH CAUSED BY BLOW

Autopsy Develops Blood Clot
at the Base of the Brain

Lying in a pool of clotted blood, the dead body of John Ryan, former sparring partner of John L. Sullivan and Jake Kilrain, was found dead in a shack at Cosmopolis Saturday morning. An autopsy performed by Coroner R. F. Hunter developed that death was due to concussion of the brain, the result of a blow on the head.

Ryan, who has been acting as a swamper for a saloon in Cosmopolis, was last seen alive Thursday evening, when he was drinking heavily. It is said that he became obnoxious in a saloon and was ejected by the bartender. Bystanders, who saw Ryan thrown from the saloon, say he came out of the door like a bullet out of a gun, and striking on his head, lay stunned on the sidewalk. He was seen later making his way to his home, and when he failed to put in an appearance Saturday, friends went to his home and found him dead.

The authorities were quickly on the ground and a coroner's jury was secured and testimony taken. The jury brought in a verdict that death was due to concussion of the brain caused by a blow on the head.

The body was brought to this city and is at Whiteside's undertaking establishment, pending orders from Coroner Hunter.

Ryan, in his halcyon days, was one of the most scientific men in the prize ring. It was Ryan who trained the mighty Sullivan for many of his famous battles, giving the Champions of Champions all the best of care, and the knowledge of his science, which made him invincible in the squared ring. Ryan was a national character, being known for his kind heartedness and generous deeds. His money came easy and went easy, and his death is one of the ironies of fate.

COLER VISITS CITY TO MEET ITS MEN

Former Comptroller of New York Attracted By Way Citizens Handled
Recent I. W. W. Trouble

Bird S. Coler, former comptroller of New York, and one of the real big men in the affairs of the great metropolis, was a visitor in Aberdeen Friday, the guest of Norman Burcomb of the Grays Harbor Gas company.

His visit was inspired solely by the quick and summary action taken by Aberdeen in handling the I. W. W. invasion, of which he had read, and he declared yesterday he wanted to meet the leaders of a community which took decisive action of this sort.

Mr. Coler was traveling in Canada when he saw in the newspapers how Aberdeen ejected the street speakers. The course pursued in Aberdeen, declares Mr. Coler, should be emulated by other cities in handling I. W. W. He thinks decisive action will go far toward curbing the violation of city ordinances by these men.

The New Yorker was much pleased with business conditions which he found here and said he was surprised at the activity and apparent prosperity of the harbor cities.

WELL KNOWN WOMAN CHARACTER LOSES $13,000

Louise Lour, well known police character, who was sent out of Aberdeen during the term of F. R. Archer as chief of police, is reported to have been swindled out of $13,000 at Spokane a few days ago. The woman, with a fat bank roll, fell in with three smooth operators, and she was induced to place her wad on a horse race, which did not turn out to her liking, and she lost both her money and her supposed friends.

WATER 30 FEET DEEP OVER BAR

North Side Jetty Accomplishes
Results Declares Engineer E. L. Carpenter

Grays Harbor can now boast of 30 feet of water on its bar at high water and 21 feet at mean low water, according to information given out by Mr. S. Engineer E. L. Carpenter, in charge of the construction work on the Damon point jetty. Mr. Carpenter says he believes that the jetty has done a great deal of good in deepening the entrance to the harbor. The jetty is now higher than a mid-tide jetty, and nearly as good as a high tide jetty. During the year, the amount of false work, or trestle, built out into the sea was 4,000 feet, which makes a total of 15,000 feet constructed since the work first began. Approximately 1,500 feet additional trestle is all that is required under the present appropriation, 30,000 tons of stone was dumped, increasing the amount to 300,000 tons. It will require about 250,000 additional tons to complete the jetty.

MAN IS DROWNED

The body of a laborer named Brown who was drowned in the Chehalis river last night, was found near the O. W. R. & N. company bridge this morning. Only the hand, sticking above the water, was first seen. Brown is supposed to have fallen from the bridge last night while in an intoxicated condition.

WRECKED THEIR ROOM

W. Ross and E. Blew, who wrecked a room in the Mecca lodging house will spend their Christmas in jail unless friends come to the rescue with bail. The men, after purchasing holiday gifts, imbibed too freely and engaged a room, which they proceeded to turn into a rough house, their arrest following.

PLAN TO DEPORT LAWBREAKERS

Authorities Looking for Evidence Against Foreigners to Deport Them

IS THE ONLY REMEDY

So Declare Citizens of Cities
That Have Been Invaded
by Agitators

For the purpose of securing evidence against certain members of the I. W. W. organization who created a disturbance here several weeks ago and were forcibly ejected from the city with a view of deporting all foreigners, federal authorities are now in Aberdeen.

The recent invasion of various cities of the Pacific coast by this band of men, who are determined to run over the laws has stirred up the citizens in the various places and the demand for deportation of the alien members has been made.

Quite a number of the men expelled from Aberdeen, were foreigners, some being hardly able to speak the English language. The authorities are of the opinion that the deportation of a hundred or more of these trouble makers, will have a tendency to quell the disturbing spirit.

Evidence is at hand and in possession of the authorities to the effect that several of the Aberdeen disturbers are in jail in Tacoma and will be held until the deportation charges can be brought and the men sent out of this country.

NEW MEMBERS OF CHAMBER WILL BE TOPIC TOMORROW

Chamber of Commerce Plans Big Campaign for Weekly Dinner at Fairmont Hotel

The regular weekly dinner of the Aberdeen Chamber of Commerce at the Fairmont hotel, Tuesday, will be devoted to the campaign for membership now on by the organization. A long list of names were read last week and many promised to see the men, and get their applications for membership.

In addition to the membership campaign, the committee on transportation is expected to bring in a report on the Callison resolution, introduced at the chamber luncheon last week, charging the O. W. R. & N. company with placing a discriminatory rate on wheat, hay and grain to this point. Albert Johnson, delegate to the National Rivers and Harbors congress at Washington, D. C., is expected to make a report.

WHITE SLAVER TAKEN

Anna Goldstein, keeper of a resort in the restricted district, was arrested Thursday evening and taken to Seattle on the evening train on a charge of being engaged in the white slave traffic. The federal authorities spent several days in Aberdeen working on the case and have evidence to the fact that the Goldstein woman furnished the funds for Blanche Smith to come from New York to enter a house of ill fame in this city.

The laws make it a felony to import women from one state to another for immoral purposes and if the case against the Goldstein woman can be proved, she will be given a jail sentence and fine or it not she will likely be deported.

BRUCE ROGERS WRITES LETTER

Attorney for I. W. W. Mails
Number of Sympathy
Pleading Letters

FACTS ARE DISTORTED

The Anarchist Agitators Seek to Gain a Fresh Foothold in Aberdeen

Several hundred citizens of Aberdeen received a copy of the letter printed below in Friday's mail, dated at Aberdeen, May 14, and mailed in Seattle. Even without the signature of Bruce Rogers, the pen of the skilled pettifogger is easily discernible. The plausibility with which facts are distorted and suppressed show the attorney who could with equal facility argue for the opposite side of the question. Read the letter:

Mr. Citizen and Tax Payer:

Suppose that you were suddenly confronted with the truth about occurrences in your city for the last two months; could you look it in the face? Could you make up your mind to do something in your own interest? In the interest of your property and your present and future welfare?

Suppose that as a result of actual truth you were to learn that the I. W. W., instead of being a lawless and violent organization as you have been misled to believe, is a perfectly lawful and peaceful organization, both individually and collectively, and that our entire system is completely within our legal rights. Don't you know that if we were violators of the law that we would speedily be brought to punishment under its penalties? We are and always have been anxious voluntarily to submit ourselves to the laws and to the consequences if the laws are changed; we propose to conform to them. Now don't you know that if we were lawless and violent that under the provocation, the beatings we have endured, and a thousand lawless acts committed against us, that we could long ago have burned the city to ashes? As man to man don't you think we have shown great self-restraint, even for perfectly law-abiding workmen, who are determined simply upon getting better conditions and better wages?

Everybody knows and practically everybody says the laborers should get better wages and our methods for getting them are perfectly lawful. What does it mean to you when we get good wages? Does it not spell prosperity for you, and increase in the value of your property? It certainly does, for if the workers were given just their board and clothes would you be in business or would your property be worth anything?

Now let us look at the other side. Do you know that you, with the 700 other taxpayers to whom this letter is addressed have been subjected to an expense of approximately $50,000 in an unlawful effort to prevent us doing perfectly lawful things? Now, the blame for this expense is on those who violate the laws; not on us who abide by them. Do you know that this fight will never, never end, until we have organized the workers to better their conditions? And that if the methods of the mill owners and your officials whom you trusted with the duty of enforcing the laws and not themselves to break them, are kept up, you will continually be subjected to this expense. But the expense is really the least part of it; for in the meantime your business doesn't prosper and your property depreciates in value. Bear in mind that so long as this struggle keeps up, we shall continually work to have the facts made known to people; for in has been our experience, the public will swiftly condemn lawless methods against us. Bear in mind when you are thinking of this, that it is we who are ready and anxious to answer to you for all our acts. You are interested in this thing, not against us, but with us, and you will find this out if you will take the trouble. Organize a committee from among yourselves, of men, not connected with the lawlessness and inhumanity that has transpired—a committee not to beat and slug, but to hear and consider the facts. Act, act in your own true and genuine interest. Go after all the facts for yourself, bearing in mind that you cannot depend upon the newspapers, who are with gigantic interests who are throttling the people and nullifying the laws.

Yours for justice,
BRUCE ROGERS,
Acting for the Industrial Workers of the World.

BRIDE SUFFERS IN WATSON WRECK

Captain and Mrs. Endresen Are Shipwrecked in the South Seas

GUESTS OF ISLAND KING

Romantic Wedding Ends in a Terrible Experience for the Young Bride

SAN FRANCISCO, May 17.—On the long list of passengers on the Royal Mail steamship Aarangi, from the Antipodes and South seas, which is today discharging cargo, are Capt. Thomas Endresen and his bride, who were shipwrecked off the island of Ralatea, 120 miles from Papeete, Tahiti.

Undergoes Terrible Hardships.
Mrs. Endresen, who was Miss Ann De La Tour, of Pendleton, Or., underwent terrible hardship and drifted about in the ocean in an open boat for ten hours, not knowing the fate of her husband and the crew of the schooner G. W. Watson, of which he was master.

The schooner, which was partly filled with water, was dashed on a reef April 3 and was a total wreck inside of a few hours. Under the strain of ocean swell the ship's seams opened and soon the vessel was hopelessly waterlogged.

A lifeboat was launched and provisioned, and into it, with several sailors to handle it, the skipper placed this bride. Her trousseau was under water in the cabin and all she saved was the clothing she wore. Later the captain and crew escaped in another boat.

Romance Began at Grays Harbor.

The skipper's romance started several years ago at Grays harbor, before Capt. Endresen went to sea. When he sailed on the schooner G. W. Watson for the South seas last January, he had the promise that his bride-to-be would meet him in Papeete when he arrived, she taking passage on the steamer Matail.

After a stormy passage and a month overdue, Capt. Endresen arrived in Papeete with his ship leaking for him, but when Capt. Endresen sought a marriage license he discovered that the French law required that the nuptials be advertised for thirty days.

The young couple found a way out by being married in a launch four miles out to sea by Father Christian, a Belgian priest.

Are Guests of the King.
For three weeks after they were shipwrecked Capt. Endresen, his wife and crew of eight men were guests of the king of Ralatea. Capt. Endresen sold the wrecked schooner for $250, secured passage for his party to Papeete on a trading vessel and then took passage for home on the Aarangi.

Mrs. Endresen is well known in San Francisco and Berkeley, having visited here many times. She is young and pretty, and although she said that being shipwrecked was a terrible experience, she is ready to go to sea again whenever her husband gets another ship.

Capt. Endresen is a native son of Grays Harbor, being born at Hoquiam, and his father and brother conduct the shipyard at Aberdeen, and the Endresen Spar & Timber Co.

DECORATION DAY

Decoration exercises, May 30th, will commence at the Grand Opera house 2 p. m. These will include oration and regular exercises by the G. A. R. A. parade under the auspices of kindred organizations of the G. A. R. will take place and all patriotic citizens and school children are expected to participate. While all societies and organizations are expected to take part in the parade, it is not the intention to have them processed as such, but march in the procession as American citizens.

It is expected that many thousands will participate, and by this demonstration will teach the young and rising generation the importance of this day which will be solemnized by appropriate exercises.

A detailed program will be announced later.

TORNOW MAKING TOWARDS SOUND

Outlaw Seen in Abandoned
Camp Near Western Limit of Mason County

RECOGNIZED BY LOGGERS

Fugitive Makes Way Up Hill
as Men Approach and Disappears in Timber

John Tornow, hermit of the woods, believed to have murdered his twin nephews, John and Will Bauer, nearly a year ago, and Deputy Sheriffs Colin McKenzie and A. V. Elmer this spring, has been driven from his haunts on the upper Wynoochie river and is now believed to be in Western Mason county. He was seen Wednesday afternoon by loggers at the Simpson Logging Company's camp No. 5, just west of the Mason county line, which was abandoned a few days ago.

Posse Will Follow.

Word of Tornow's presence at the camp was received by Sheriff Payette last Thursday and he at once sent Deputies Swartz and Fitzgerald in search of the posse which has been hunting Tornow in his old haunts. These men will at once cross the divide and continue the search. They will be joined in the hunt by Sheriff Lou Sanderson, of Mason county, with a posse.

Simpson's camp No. 5 was abandoned last Sunday and Wednesday several men from camp No. 1 went back on an errand.

Tornow in Clearing.
As they entered the clearing they saw a man they recognized as Tornow leave the camp house and make his way up a hill at the back and into the timber. He was carrying his rifle. The men were not able to describe minutely how he was dressed. They state they recognized him because several of them had known him previously.

The direction he took would lead into Mason county. For several weeks a posse of seven men, with dogs has been hunting Tornow and several times has been almost upon him.

The men found several of his camps which he had left only a short time before and at one of them his fire was still burning. He has been unable to get meat. He has been pursued so closely that Sheriff Payette believes he has found the Wynoochie district too hot for him.

The district where he is now is more open and the chase will be easier.

GETS HEAVY SENTENCE

Mike Kern was sentenced to 60 days in the county jail Thursday afternoon by Police Judge Drake, upon conviction of vagrancy. Kern was an I. W. W. worker, and was industriously working the city, with out any visible means of support when gathered in by the police.

TIMBER WEALTH OF THE COUNTY

Chief Cruiser McGillicuddy
Files Complete Report of His Work

OVER 36 BILLION FEET

Much Valuable Data Is Secured
For Taxation and Other Purposes

The work of cruising the timber lands of Chehalis county has been completed, and for the first time in its history the county has an accurate estimate of its timber wealth. While the cruise, which cost about $70,000, was made for the purpose of securing correct data for taxation purposes, the work will be found valuable for other reasons.

The reports of Chief Cruiser J. A. McGillicuddy shows the amount of timber in Chehalis county to be 36,263,124,355 feet, of which 13,000,000,000 feet is located in the Olympic forest reserve and Quinalt Indian reservation. Of the balance, 20,732,384,363 feet is green standing timber; 1,527,653,946 is dead standing and down timber, and 30,655,000 consists of piling of different varieties.

Following is a recapitulation of the report:

Green fir	13,007,547,642
Green Spruce	1,754,230,180
Green Cedar	3,158,394,157
Green Hemlock	2,719,431,004
Green Bals. fir	63,124,750
Green Pine	16,027,500
Green Larch	15,780,500
Green Cottonwood	3,065,500
Total green timber	20,732,384,363

THE WISHKAH RIVER FERRY

Bridge Being Out of Commission
Works Hardship on Traffic
the Wishkah River

The fact that the Heron street bridge is out of commission for the second time within a few months is directing the attention of the city authorities to the need of better facilities for travel across the Wishkah river. The ferry is costly and unsatisfactory. A prominent business man of East Aberdeen figures that the time lost by pedestrians and teams in crossing the ferry will show a cost of $250 a day in addition to the cost of maintaining the ferry.

While the authorities and the ferry crew are doing all they can with the facilities they have, the ferry is so situated as to be impossible for loaded wagons at low water and accidents are constantly delaying traffic. On Saturday morning the cable was broken and traffic delayed for several hours, many pedestrians being compelled to walk to South Aberdeen and come into town over the O. W. railroad bridge.

On Friday, the team of A. B. Skinner became frightened while backing down the slip on the east side and but for the prompt cutting of the traces, would have been drowned. As it was, the wagon with about 1,000 pounds of groceries from West Side Grocery company, went into the river, and a good portion of the groceries, valued at $250, was lost.

The increase of population in East Aberdeen demands better bridge service, and it is argued that it would prove real economy to build a second bridge at Wishkah street and that but few periods of the Heron street bridge out of service would pay for the structure.

The Tacoma Dredging Co. expects to complete the tideland fill by July 20.

ROOSEVELT DELEGATES

Must Be Recognized by National Committee Says
Republican Paper

CONVENTION REGULAR

Spokesman - Review on the Aberdeen Convention —
Teddy Delegates Legal

The republican national committee will most assuredly recognize the Roosevelt delegation from this state. The delegation bears the stamp of legality and every act of the Roosevelt followers at the convention in Aberdeen on Wednesday has the commendation of all fair-minded republicans of Washington, and they are in an overwhelming majority.

The convention which elected a straight Taft delegation to the republican national convention was not representative of the republican party. Its officials were puppets in the hands of political wire-pullers and professional office-seekers. And 13 counties, including such influential counties as Spokane, Walla Walla and Clark, were unrepresented. The convention was a machine, pure and simple.

On the other hand, the Roosevelt republican convention in reality the state republican convention was directly representative of the party. Its organization was the act of the delegates and the proceedings throughout were in their hands.

To set aside the delegates of this convention would be unthinkable—something beyond the ken of a body of just and honorable men, such as undoubtedly compose the republican national committee.

The legality of the Roosevelt delegates to the national convention can not be gained when the status of the King county delegates in the state convention is considered. To disqualify all other contested points decided by the republican state committee its action on the King county delegates can not be too often repeated—it demonstrates so conclusively Colonel Roosevelt's right to the Washington delegation.

Two delegations from King county appeared in Aberdeen—121 delegates for Taft, 121 delegates for Roosevelt. Setting aside all controversy respecting the makeup of the King county central committee and the King county executive committee, these facts are not denied. That the 121 delegates for Taft were hand-picked by an executive committee of 20 men; that the 121 delegates for Roosevelt were elected at a primary election in which from 6500 to 8500 republicans participated.

No reasonable body of men can declare that the Roosevelt delegation from King county should not have been seated. The republican state committee, blinded by partisan ship and dominated by machine bosses, unjustly threw out the Roosevelt delegation, but this injustice is bound to be rectified by the republican national committee—Spokane Spokesman Review. POTLATCH BUGS COMING

A letter received Saturday announced that one hundred Potlatch Bugs will invade Aberdeen next Saturday, accompanied by a band of 30 pieces, for the purpose of inoculating the citizens of this city with the virus of the Bug. The party has planned to visit the various cities of the Northwest in this manner to create interest in the Golden Potlatch to be held in Seattle, July 15-20.

Arrangements are being made in this city to give the delegation a great reception on the arrival of the special train. Potlatch initiation will be held in the Grand theater in the evening, and already applications for membership are being made.

DELEGATES SPEND MONEY

The entertainment committee of the Chamber of Commerce estimates that Aberdeen entertained at least 1,400 visitors during the two convention days and it has been figured that they left about $30,000 in the city.
